Which Are Necessary to the Peace And Dignity, Not to Mention Comfort, of Janesville.

City Attorney Maxfield will this evening call upon the common council to take direct action with reference to the Janesville street railroad. The text of the communication he will submit as follows:

"To the Mayor and Members of the Common Council of the City of Janesville,

"Gentlemen: In compliance with an order passed by your honorable body, I have taken up the deplorable condition of the street railway system with Mr. Blaum of Philadelphia, the officials and attorneys for the road, without success. I have also filed a complaint against said company with the State Railroad Commission, asking them to issue an order compelling said company to install a street railway system in our city that will be safe and sanitary and not a menace to life and property. The hearing upon this will be had before the commission some time during the first part of October, the date not having been set by the commission. I am using every means within my power to secure the street railway system and service that the city of Janesville is entitled to and needs. I ask your honorable body to pass the annexed order so as to meet, as far as possible, in the resumption of the street railway system.

Respectfully submitted,
H. L. MAXFIELD."

Dated Sept. 13th, 1909.

"That this order be served upon said company."

CASE AGAINST MARSHALL WAS POSTPONED UNTIL TOMORROW

Prisoner Will Be Required to Give Bonds to Insure Appearance When Girl Recovers.

On account of the absence of District Attorney Fisher, the case against William Marshall of Green Bay, which was to have been heard in municipal court this morning, was postponed until two o'clock this afternoon. When the case was called this afternoon the district attorney was still busy and another adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning. Miss Weber, who brought the charges, is still in the hospital and will be unable to testify for at least ten days. It is probable that the prisoner will be required to furnish bail tomorrow morning and in default of this remain in jail until the complaining witness recovers sufficiently to testify.

Whites Were Sent Back One by One as He Nearing the Goal - Still at Battle Harbor. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Battle Harbor, Labrador, Sept. 13.—The following details of Peary's journey to the Pole were gleaned from members of the expedition aboard the "Roosevelt":

The only men to reach the Pole were Peary and one Eskimo. The other whites were sent back, one by one, as he drew nearer his object. Matthew Henson and three Eskimos were the only other members of the party that made the final dash and they were left on the march south of the Pole. The Pole was reached April 6th.

Sydney, N. S., Sept. 13.—Peary is still at Battle Harbor and his family here are eagerly awaiting word of his departure on the "Roosevelt" for Sydney.

Mrs. Peary yesterday received a wireless message from her husband, saying he would keep her posted, and from this it is assumed that Peary has not definitely fixed the time of his sailing from Battle Harbor.

NOLAN ASSISTS IN BELOIT WATER CASE

Local Attorney Presented Arguments Before Rate Commission Last Week in Utility Company's Hearing.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Attorney Thomas Nolan of this city has been engaged during the past week in the case brought before the state railroad commission against the Beloit Water, Gas &amp; Electric company by the City of Beloit through City Attorney H. W. Adams. Mr. Nolan has been associated with Mr. Adams in the work and they have appeared before the commission against Olin and Butler who represented the utility company. The dispute to be settled was concerning the physical valuation of the plant and with regard to the amount and kind of water furnished by the Beloit company.

The company charged that during the test of the plant an unusual amount of water was used and considerable testimony was given to prove this fact.

The attorneys for the city however, disproved these statements by showing a gauge reading taken near where the leakage was supposed to have occurred and by showing that the gauge which was used was unable to pump the amount of water the utility company said that it did.

The hearing has been adjourned indefinitely, until one of the experts employed by the city of Beloit, who will be occupied by business matters of an urgent nature, can again appear for the city. The hearings will probably be resumed the latter part of October.

PEARY ACCUSED;
COOK'S VERSION

DANISH DOCTOR SAYS COMMANDER
TOOK CHARGE OF COOK'S STOREHOUSE.

DECLARED HIS RIVAL DEAD

Issued Official Paper Saying There
Was No Use to Search for Cook, Asserts Dr. Hansen in a Copenhagen Paper.

Copenhagen, Sept. 13.—Dr. Norman Hansen, a prominent physician, in a letter to a local newspaper, gives Dr. Frederick A. Cook's version of the controversy with Commander Peary over the taking of supplies stored in the arctic regions.

Dr. Cook told practically the same story to one of his closest American friends just a week ago, before Commander Peary reappeared on the scene, but said he did not intend to make it public because it might lead to unpleasantness.

Was with Cook in Greenland.

Dr. Hansen was with Cook for some time in Greenland and returned with him to the Danish government steamer Hans Egede. In his letter he says:

"Now that Dr. Cook has gone, I am no longer under any obligation to keep silence, and will exercise my right to publish the story about the house in Annatoek, a story which Dr.
Cook himself had too much delicacy to relate to the world. I write it according to my memory, in the same manner what Dr. Cook in Egde-milde told it to me, and I am fully convinced that in no details are my recollections wrong."

"Dr. Cook had built his house for stores in Annatoek, north of Etah, and it was this depot which he started to reach in February, 1898, crossing Smith sound. It was a pretty large house, the walls being built of heavily blasted provision boxes, so that Dr.
Cook knew that when this important point was reached everything was safe. He had, before the start, arranged with a young friend named Whitney that he have the right to use the house while hunting musk oxen for sport, in the winter of 1898-99.

Had to Fight Boatswain.
"When Dr. Cook and his two Eskimos, exhausted and half starved, came within a short distance of the house in Annatoek, young Whitney came out to bid him welcome, but inside the house was a stranger, a great Newfoundland boatswain, on watch. This man had been placed in Dr. Cook's house by Peary when the latter passed Etah with his ship bound north. Peary had given the boatswain a written order which commenced with the following words:
"This house belongs to Dr. Frederick A. Cook, but Dr. Cook is long ago dead and there is no use to search after him. Therefore, I, Commander Robert E. Peary, install my boatswain in this deserted house!"

Cook Copied the Note.
"This paper the boatswain, who could neither read nor write, exhibited to Dr. Cook and the latter took a copy of this wonderful document.
This copy, however, he does not intend to publish if Peary's course does not force him to do so. Dr. Cook gave me a lively account of how the young influential Mr. Whitney, during the whole winter was treated like a dog by the giant boatswain and how he had calmly witnessed the sailor bartering Dr. Cook's provisions for fox and bear skins for himself. Dr.
Cook also had to put a good face on the unpleasant situation. He had to beg to get into his own house and had to make a compromise with the boatswain with strong flats.

"Dr. Cook made a present of the house with all its contents to his two faithful Eskimos with the provision that Whitney was to have the use of the house as long as his hunting trip lasted, but he was compelled to let the Newfoundland boatswain continue his watch. The boatswain, however, received strict orders not to exchange any more of the provisions or guns."

and Dr. H. J. Suttle, Winona, are ard Hoe, grand secretary, and some others will also attend.

From the advanced reports of the grand officers the order shows a marked increase in membership and it is the largest fraternal organization in the world. In membership, the report shows a net increase of 49,720 and added to this an increase in the grand lodge of Australia would make a total net increase of 52,314. The present membership, including report from Australia, is 1,499,102, making a total membership on Dec. 31, 1908, including Rebekahs, of 1,891,000.

While a growth in membership is desirable as illustrating increasing strength and ability for carrying on the work of the order, the figures show in relief extended and invested funds are of equal importance.

The total relief expenditure in 1908 was $5,500,825.60, being an increase of $387,831.85 over the previous year.
The total receipts of subordinate bodies in 1908 were $16,370,937.13. The invested funds of grand and subordinate bodies of 1908 amounted to $42, 758,389, showing the magnificent of El. Atkinson and numerous other volunteer scouts to the effect that five hundred high school players from Southfrom Appleton is as follows:

"One of the most promising candidates is Merle Edwards, a 200-pound last season. Edwards intended to attend Oberlin, but has applied for admission to Lawrence in compliance with the wishes of his parents.

George Reynolds, a fast and aggressive lucker. Ellsworth will send at least

Straw Used for Matches.

The straw of various grasses and cereals has been tried and found suitable for wood in making matches. The straw is cut into twod-inch lengths by machinery, winnowed to obtain uniform size, and then boiled in paraffine, dried and dipped into the mixture of chlorate of potash, gum arabic, etc., for the inflammable tip. The process should, if adopted on a large scale, obliterate the use of wood and also give an improved match, with the advan-

Here is a Capitol Boiler Story

Last fall I had a hot water heating plant installed in my cottage (7 rooms) using No. 220 Capitol Solar Boiler. When I received the Boiler I did not think it was large enough (the plumber who did the work laughed at it calling it "water charm") but it proved large enough, and it burns soft coal just as successful as hard coal. I would not part with my "Capitol" for five times what I paid if I could not have another. Respectfully,

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

EVERY time anyone abuses a privilege he not only risks losing it himself but also making someone else lose it.

A college girl was telling me the other day that the girls were not allowed to go off the campus to evening entertainments at all.

"Yes," she answered, "but two or three of the girls got around that by getting young girls from the town to act as chaperones, or by promising to have one, and not doing it. So they took the privilege away altogether."

That means that two or three girls prevented several hundred from being allowed to enjoy themselves in a perfectly legitimate way.

Several beautiful estates which used to be opened to the public at certain hours of the day have recently been closed altogether.

The reason? Vandalism—flowers and fruit stolen, initials carved, historic heirlooms actually chipped by conscienceless curio hunters. The few who abused the privilege took it away from the many who might have used it properly.

"Why, you always used to be allowed to go if you were properly chaperoned," I said.

Once when I was helping to make the arrangements for a college banquet I marveled at the high price asked.

"You can get a very good dinner for less than that singly," I commented, "and I should think that collectively it would cost less instead of more."

"It would, Madam," replied the manager, "except that we have to charge enough to pay for the spoons or dishes your classmates will carry away as mementos."

Another case, you see, where the many pay for the lawlessness of the few.

At a shop which has always been most accommodating in its service I asked recently to have a gown sent out on approval.

"We don't do that any more," said the clerk.

I expressed my astonishment. "We couldn't afford to," he explained.

And then he told me of some of the experiences they had had.

Women among their customers continually ordered beautiful hats and even gowns sent out on approval, wore them to some special occasion, and then sent them back, saying they did not care for them.

Nor was my sex the only offender.

One man who was invited on a two days' automobiling trip ordered a $150 fur coat sent out on approval, wore it on the trip and then calmly returned it as not just what he wanted.

And now the other customers who would like to take honest advantage of the privilege of having goods sent out on approval find they no longer have it.

Perhaps these people and others like them, who risk their own privileges so lightly, might have the decency to pause a bit if they remembered that they were risking not only their own but many other people's also.

I wonder.

You are seen at her side and visit regularly at her house. You are supposed to be her suitor, and the community after a time takes it for granted you are engaged to her. And because of this general belief other amiable young men stay away.

Meantime the girl awaits your proposal.

It ought to be forthcoming, and by withholding the formal offer you treat the girl most cruelly. "Hope deferred maketh the heart sick."

Besides—

You may subject her to humiliation.

Her friends, in view of your actions, are up to ask her what day the wedding is set for. And thus, besides her personal misery because of your neglect, she is made to suffer mortification because of your selfishness.

What has the poor girl done that you should punish her?

Particularly dishonorable is such conduct if the young lady is unprotected—if she has no big brother to put the integrity of your intentions squarely up to you, no mother who enough and keen enough because of her love to wrest your secret motives from you and compel a formal declaration.

Certainly you are not base enough to prove your mystery or merely for your sport.

In love matters, as in all others, the only right way is the open and honest way. Let the young woman know precisely what you propose. Let nothing be taken for granted.

If you do not intend to marry her you should not monopolize her.

White Horse of Kilburn.

The biggest artificial horse in the world is the famous White Horse of Kilburn, near Thirsk, which was formed by a native of Kilburn 50 years ago, who cut away the turf in the corset form and then covered it with limestone—the whole occupying some two acres of the side of the hill. The figure makes a conspicuous landmark for over 20 miles round.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Schoenfeld of Green Bay were visiting in Janesville.

James Menhall of Beloit is transacting business in this city today.

Mrs. E. J. Bennett left Saturday evening for a visit at the home of A. W. Stevens at Oconomowoc. She will also spend some time in Milwaukee before returning home.

OBITUARY.

Gordon Edwards O'Donnell.

Gordon Edwards, the seven months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry O'Donnell, died at McClelland, Iowa, yesterday morning. The little boy was taken ill during the latter part of last week and on Friday news reached Mr. O'Donnell of his critical condition. He left at once, arriving just in time to be present at his son's last moments.

Elsie Beatrice Hanewold.

Elsie Hanewold, the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Hanewold, of State street, died Sunday morning at five o'clock. The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock from the house and at 2:30 from the Norwegian church. Rev. W. A. Johnson will officiate.

Mrs. Ellen A. Nichols.

After an illness of several weeks, which was born with a cheerful patient, Mrs. Ellen Adley Nichols passed away at her home on Linn street at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mrs. Nichols was born Aug. 8th, 1843, and her childhood was passed at the home in Boston, Mass. In October, 1860, she was married to Jonas Nichols at Dummer, N. H., and in 1868 came to Janesville with her husband, who preceded her to the life beyond on Jan. 20, 1876.

Of her immediate family there remain: a sister, Mrs. A. P. Blodget of Kimball, Minn., and three children—Herbert L. Nichols and Lorenzo H. Nichols of Green Bay, and Ida M. Nichols, whose home has been with her mother.

Mrs. Nichols will live long in the memory of the many friends whose скромные have been heightened by her care and of the larger circle of friends and neighbors whose lives were made better by her cheerful presence and to whom she gave herself without reserve.

The funeral service will be held at the home Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. David Beaton of Chicago officiating.

Mrs. Edward Conlin.

Word was received this morning of the death of Mrs. Edward Conlin, of Milwaukee, formerly Miss Mary Denomy of this city. The funeral will be held Wednesday morning in Milwaukee. Mrs. Conlin is well known in this city and has many warm friends here who will mourn her death.

SOME PLAIN WORDS.

Young man—

You have no right to make love to a girl unless you intend to marry her. And especially you have no moral right to continue your attentions for a long period of time without deciding yourself.

Because—

Such a course of action is dishonorable and because you harm yourself by pretending love when you do not entertain such sentiments.

But particularly—

By your continued courting and unwarranted delay you are guilty of perjury wrong to the young woman, and you are standing in the way of her future happiness.

Youth is woman's opportunity for marriage. It is her attractive age. If she misses that chance she may go through life disappointed and bereft.

You are seen at her side and visit regularly at her house. You are supposed to be her suitor, and the community after a time takes it for granted you are engaged to her.

And because he loves her. "I believe so," was the reply. "Let's see. Yes, there is. Urville Wright ascends to a height of 2,000 feet."

"And he comes down again does he?"

MAJ. F. F. STEVENS DIED ON SUNDAY

DAVE SOLDIER AND CITIZEN'S LAST MOMENTS PEACEFUL.

SEVENTY-FOUR YEARS OLD

Joined Gold Rush to California in Early Days and Served Country With Distinction in Civil War.

Major Fenton F. Stevens whose illustrious career as a soldier and upright and spotless record as a citizen made him one of the best known and most beloved of the Janesville pioneers, quietly laid down the burden of life at 7:20 o'clock Sunday morning. He was prostrated by paralysis on the 23rd of May, his seventy-fourth birthday anniversary, and never rallied from the second stroke which overtook him about three weeks ago. To all of his legion of friends it will be a comfort to know that his last hours were devoid of any suffering, peaceful and serene.

Born in York State.

The deceased was born in Albion, Orleans county, New York, May 24, 1835. His father, James Stevens, was a dry goods merchant and died when the son was a mere lad. The latter was about twelve years old when he came to Janesville in September, 1847, to make his home with the family of John P. Dickson, one of the well known and early settlers of the county.

Journeyed to California.

During the California gold excitement of the late '50's, he joined an overland expedition and leaving Brooklyn on the 10th of April, 1858, arrived at Placerville on the 12th day of the following September. The tortuous journey was made with ox teams and the Brodhead wagons were called upon to give aid and succor to two women and an infant, the only survivors of a party of Tennesseeans who had been attacked and massacred by Indians while traveling a few miles ahead, near the Great Salt Lake. This slaughter is known in history as the Howard massacre. Mr. Stevens engaged in mining and hotel keeping in California and subsequently returned to the east by way of the Isthmus and New York City, arriving in the metropolis on Feb. 19, 1861, and continuing his way from thence to Janesville.

In His Country's Service.

On May 11, 1861, he was commissioned assistant quartermaster of the 5th regiment, Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry. He accompanied the regiment and had crossed the Potomac when it was discovered that no such regimental office was known to military law. Returning thereto to Janesville, he was authorized with others to raise a company and was commissioned captain on Oct. 16. The company was known as the "Hangers" and was mustered into the United States service as Company F, 30th Wisconsin Infantry, at Camp Freedway, November 1, 1861. Captain Stevens continued in command until Feb. 10, 1864, when he was relieved of the command at his own request to enable him to accept an appointment as acting Assistant Inspector General on the staff of Gen. H. H. Rousseau. He held this position until April 5, 1864, when he was relieved of duty and mustered out of the service that he might accept an appointment as additional paymaster, United States army, to which position he had been commissioned, with the rank of major, by President Lincoln on Feb. 28, 1864.

Injured in Train Wreck.

On December 14 of the same year, while acting in the capacity of paymaster, Major Stevens had his skull fractured and his back permanently injured in a week of train moving from Nashville to Louisville under orders and carrying a large amount of money. The freight train, which occurred between Cave City and Bowling Green, was derailed and brought about by guerrillas and a large number of passengers were killed. Though permanently disabled by his injuries, Major Stevens was able to resume his duties after several months in a hospital and continued to occupy his post until May 15, 1867, when he was mustered out and returned to Janesville. He had been recommended for the post of Lieutenant Colonel but the injuries sustained in the train wreck incapacitated him for the duties of such a position.

Banker and Leaf Packer.

For some years after his return to the city, Major Stevens was cashier of the Wisconsin Savings bank and he was also associated, for a short period, with William McKay, under the firm name of Stevens & McKay, in the leaf tobacco trade. The firm's warehouse was located opposite the present site of the Park hotel.

Wedded in 1868.

His wedding to Miss Mary McKay, daughter of Edward McKay of Janesville, occurred on the 9th day of November, 1868. The children were Mrs. April Stevens Jackson, who died April 21, 1903, and Edward J. Stevens, an attorney at law who is now located in Chicago. The widow and son and a sister, Mrs. Walter Warrath of this city, are the only immediate relatives who survive him.

Collegiate Affiliations.

The late Major Stevens was a republican in politics, having cast his first presidential vote for Abraham Lincoln in 1860. He was a member of W. H. Sargent Post, G. A. R., Janesville Commandery No. 2, Knights Templar, and Oriental Lodge No. 22, Knights of Pythias.

Funeral on Tuesday.

The funeral will be held from the home, 120 St. Lawrence avenue, at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. John McKinley officiating.

Attorney William A. Jackson of Milwaukee, a son-in-law, is at present in Seattle on business and will probably be unable to reach Janesville in time for the services.

WAGON AND STREET CAR IN COLLISION

J. B. Smith Had Narrow Escape in Accident at Court and Main Streets Saturday.

In a collision with Street Car No. 12 of the local line Saturday afternoon, J. B. Smith of this city had a narrow escape from being seriously injured and the car had to be put in the shop for repair because of a hole which was made in the side. Mr. Smith was driving a team attached to a lumber wagon up Court street and overturned, causing quite a wreck and killing the drivers on the train. A wrecking outfit and wrecking crew were immediately sent to clear away the debris and the northbound train was sent out around by way of Western avenue.

FISHER CATTLE WERE CONDEMNED BY CLARK

Two Cows Found to Be Afflicted with Tuberculosis Doomed by the State Veterinarian.

Two cows, the property of Frank Fisher of the town of Janesville, were condemned on Saturday by State Veterinarian D. B. Clark and will be either to Black River Falls or to the state fair at Milwaukee to be used in a tubercular demonstration.

The cows were given the tuberculin test and reacted from it, and their confirmation was ordered by the state veterinarian. They were animals that had been purchased by Mr. Fisher, so that to trace to the source from which they received the disease was considerably difficult. While the state partially indemnifies the owner for the cattle condemned still Mr. Fisher will suffer a partial loss of their value. Under the new law which goes into effect after December 1st, 1910, purchasers will be protected from such losses as the statute requires that all animals except those for immediate slaughter or to be shipped out of the state, shall have a health certificate.

LARGE MADISON FIRM OPENS BRANCH HERE.

Permanent Retail Piano Store Established by Wisconsin Music Co.

A recent addition to the growing trade of Janesville's enterprising retail concerns is noted in the opening of a new piano house by the Wisconsin Music company of Madison, Wis. The permanent home of this new company is at 11 N. Main St., in with Skavola's Art Store.

The company will handle the highest grades of old established makes of pianos. Included in their line are the Illinois, Albrecht, Regent, Cambridge and player pianos, which are known as the oldest established makes sold today, even dating back to the year 1789.

Mr. H. B. Hughes has been placed in the direct management of the company at Janesville and states that the company desires to build up a permanent business in this city and the surrounding territory, and that it can guarantee to purchasers the same satisfaction that users of pianos bought from this company continually enjoy. Mr. Hughes has been connected with this company for many years and is well known among piano men as a capable and competent manager and retailer.

The history of the Wisconsin Music Co. is interesting. It has made vast strides in the retail piano business since its beginning. The store at Janesville is the company's fourth branch located in this state. Early in the spring of 1898 the increase of business in the counties of Columbia, Marquette and Sauk necessitated some sort of warehouse or salesrooms in that vicinity. Portage was chosen and a store was opened at once. This branch did so well that two other stores were opened, one at Monroe and the other at La Crosse, Wis., both of which are doing a large business.

A few weeks ago the president and manager, A. E. Smith of Madison, decided to work the business of Green county from Janesville hereafter, and transferred H. B. Hughes from Monroe to this city, leaving a large stock of goods in Monroe. The Monroe branch will be under the Janesville branch management and will be handled from here by Mr. Hughes.

After carefully looking over the Janesville territory, Mr. Smith came to the conclusion that it is the Janesville and Beloit people (including Rock county) found that they had a chance to deal with a reliable, permanent store handling an old established line of pianos that they would patronize this store and soon recognize and comment on the high quality instruments sold by this company. And on this basis the new branch of this progressive, reliable firm is established. It has taken modest quarters, and has minimized rent and running expenses, in order to offer excellent values in pianos at the lowest possible prices.

The success of this company is noteworthy in every detail that it now occupies. Mr. Smith, president and manager, has been in the piano business all his life and at Madison is selling about 250 pianos a year. At La Crosse the company averages $25,000 worth of business annually. "By our past record we feel confident that we will build up a permanent success in Janesville," said Mr. Hughes. "We are certainly in a position to give the greatest piano values on the market."

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank relatives and friends for their kindness and beautiful floral offerings at the death of our daughter, Thelma.

A wreck on the North-Western road at Clybourn junction Saturday afternoon delayed all the afternoon trains going north from Chicago, so that those which arrive in this city were an hour or more late in reaching this city. The engine of a milk train going into Chicago elbowed the rails and overturned, causing quite a wreck and killing the drivers on the train. ## FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, September 13, 1869.—A Cowardly Trick.—Some man or boy who had murder in his heart nearly severed with a sharp instrument two of the guy ropes attached to the deck on the bridge. Had it not been discovered in time, the loss of life might have been the result.

Almost A Fire.—Between 10 and 11 o'clock last evening as Mr. Wm. Tallman was passing the Glow Roaster Works, he discovered a fire just starting within. With commendable coolness and presence of mind, he called to his assistance two men who happened to be near, and breaking in the door found some pails of water and proceeded to extinguish the fire, which was successfully accomplished. Had there been any hesitation on the part of Mr. T. and the other gentlemen, and less promptitude of action a serious fire must have been the result. It is not known whether the fire was caused by spontaneous combustion or whether it was an incendiary act. It certainly could not have easily held on through the winter.

SHIP KEEPS PEARY; MOVES SOUTHWARD

REPAIRS TO THE ROOSEVELT DE-LAYS POLE FINDER AT BATTLE HARBOR.

WIFE RECEIVES A MESSAGE

Secretary Bridgeman of Arctic Club Declares Commander Will Prove Cook Faker—Dr. Vincent Denounces the Explorer.

Sydney, N. S., Sept. 13.—All Sydney awaits the coming of Commander Robert E. Peary to give welcome to the finder of the "big nail" when he first sets foot on the American continent after his long but unsuccessful search for the north pole.

Mrs. Peary, wife of the arctic explorer, received a telegram from her husband and from the dispatch which came from Battle Harbor, Labrador, she does not expect him here before the latter part of the week.

Commander Peary is moving southward in the same precise manner that characterized his methodical and well calculated dash for the pole. The Roosevelt is being overhauled and painted at Asbestos Harbor, near Battle Harbor, and her commander has ordered that every injury sustained in her long stay in the ice cradle of Cape Sheridan shall be removed before she sets sail for this port. The bulkheads of the Roosevelt are being filled as it is calculated that it will take nearly five days steady steaming before she reaches this port.

Will Prove Cook Charges. That Commander Peary is prepared to substantiate by evidence his statement that Dr. Frederick Cook did not reach the pole is stated by nearly everyone of the large colony of arctic explorers, scientists and others, who have gathered here to greet the explorer from the north.

"Commander Peary will have with him incontestable proof to support every statement he has made in connection with Dr. Cook's trip in the arctic," said Herbert L. Bridgeman. "Everyone who knows Peary realizes that he never makes statements unless he can prove them absolutely. When the proper time arrives, and that will be when Dr. Cook has made his statement over his own signature, the proof will be forthcoming. I quite agree with President Hubbard of the Peary Arctic club that Dr. Cook might have learned weeks ago in Greenland of Commander Peary's discovery of the north pole. Now, you know, travel fast among the Eskimos and it is quite likely that Dr. Cook heard of what Peary had done."

Commander Peary has planned to organize an expedition to search for the south pole, but Mr. Bridgeman said that Peary would not lead it and that someone else would have to undertake the task.

Yesterday was Marla Peary's birthday. She was born 10 years ago in the arctic region. Her middle name is Ahnglitoo, which was the name of the old Eskimo woman who made the little girl her first suit of fur clothing. Mrs. Peary said the name Ahnglitoo meant "sharp pointed mountain."

Scientists May Settle War.

New York, Sept. 13.—Little if any progress having been made toward the task of meeting the demands of the British government, the Foreign Office has issued a statement to the effect that the British government will not be satisfied unless the British government is satisfied.

Correspondents to Meet Peary.

Bonne Bay, N. F., Sept. 13.—After a run of 274 miles from Sydney, N. S.,

settling the Peary-Cook controversy over the discovery of the north pole, sentiment in this country and abroad strongly favors placing the whole matter before an unbiased scientific commission for decision. Until some action along this line is taken, the bitter personal war bids fair to spread.

Dr. Cook's adherents are standing firm, producing everything at hand to Commander Peary's discredit, while the Peary backers, encouraged by his repeated denunciation of Cook, to claim the commander as the only discoverer of the pole and defy Cook to establish his right to the achievement.

Both from Germany and France there came yesterday recommendations for deciding the famous quarrel by scientific methods. Dispatches from Paris indicate that France would not be averse to acting as mediator in the dispute, being peculiarly fitted for this task as an unprejudiced nation.

Calls Peary a Faker.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 13.—"A mean, contemptible, overbearing faker," are the terms in which Dr. J. A. Vincent, ex-legislator and former mayor of Springfield denounces Lieutenant Peary.

Dr. Vincent's son, Dr. Edward Vincent, who was killed a few years ago by a street car in Detroit, was physician of the Peary polar expedition of 1908-1909, and attended Mrs. Peary at the birth of "the snow bird," Peary's daughter, who came to life in Greenland.

It was the young man's report of his treatment on this trip that embittered the older Vincent.

The father says that after his son had obtained an assignment as one of the party and it was too late for him to withdraw with honor Peary demanded and received $1,000 from him before permitting him to make the voyage.

"Meant Man He Ever Knew."

Upon his return the father says, "The meanest man he ever knew." He declared the officer was mean, insolent and overbearing, treating professional men of the party like servants.

When food ran low, Dr. Vincent told his father, Peary and his wife continued to eat everything they desired, while everyone else aboard ship was put on shortened rations. Upon the return, he said, Peary claimed all the glory, although some of the members of the crew went several miles farther north than he did.

Young Vincent is said to have penetrated farther north than Peary did and although he performed an act of heroism in strapping himself to a sled and hauling an exhausted companion back to safety, after the dog team had given out, the naval officers stepped into the spotlight on the return and claimed all the glory.

Wanted No More of It.

Young Vincent never cared to repeat his experiences with Peary and after coming back to America reengaged in the practice of his profession. The older Vincent is one of the city's best-known residents and has been prominent not only in his profession, but has been called upon to serve as mayor of Springfield, member of the general assembly, and on the state board of health. He does not deny that Peary found the pole, but disputes the controversy with Dr. Cook by saying:

"I would sooner believe Cook for he is an honorable man."

Correspondents to Meet Peary.

Bonne Bay, N. F., Sept. 13.—After a run of 274 miles from Sydney, N. S.,

the tug Thomas H. Douglass, chartered by the Associated Press, whose account will be published in this paper, arrived at this port Sunday morning, and departed again at noon toward Battle Harbor, Labrador, to meet Commander Robert E. Peary on his ship, the Roosevelt. The plans on leaving were to stop at Point Riche, 65 miles up the Newfoundland coast, where there is a wireless station, Inquiry as to whether Peary's ship, the Roosevelt, was still at Battle Harbor, not with conflicting reports and no reliable information could be obtained by wire. The fisherman knew nothing definite of his movements. Accordingly the tug continued its journey up the coast, facing a heavy head sea.

Three of the correspondents on board had never been to sea before and no one was in evidence soon after the start. Early Saturday the tug crossed the entrance to the Gulf of St. Lawrence and passed into Newfoundland waters.

Astronomer Not Satisfied.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 13.—Paul J. Roberts, astronomer and professor of physics and languages, formerly of Paris, France, who has been a deep student of arctic explorations for years, when asked if he had given Commander Peary's account careful attention and whether he could express his views upon it, replied:

"I have, and though very interesting it is nevertheless burdened with details that are not of any consequence to the scientists. There is also a lack of precision, due very probably to laxity in the transmission of the report both by wireless and by route by longitude."

"He gives us a few latitude observations, but none of longitude and his rapid advance towards the goal of his ambition cannot be traced on the map of the arctic regions with the data before us. The report is far from satisfactory."

Pole Seized for United States.

Washington, Sept. 13.—To the president of the United States, and to the secretary of state, before whose department may come any question that may arise regarding the right of possession of the region of the north pole and arctic region traversed by Peary, and to the navy department, of which he is an officer, Commander Robert E. Peary has communicated the results of his expedition, and the fact that he reached the north pole and hoisted the stars and stripes on April 6 last.

As soon as he came within telegraph communication Mr. Peary notified the president of what he had accomplished, and followed this up with dispatches sent from Battle Harbor to the secretary of state and to the secretary of the navy.

In reporting to the state department

Commander Peary, after stating that he hoisted the stars and stripes at the north pole April 6, adds that he formally took possession of "that entire region and adjacent for and in name of president, United States America," and that a record and the United States flag were left in position.

Wrong Idea Lasts Long.

The last thing that men learn about women is how transparent and natural they really are in all the essentials, our delay being due largely to our own want of imagination, and a little to the circumstances that we are brought up to expect, frankness, indecency and mischief.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 13.—The great council of the United States of the Improved Order of Red Men was held at the Hotel Ponchartrain to-day, which in the language of the order is the thirteenth sun, Corin moon. The attendance was large and the very satisfactory reports of Joseph Farrar, great orator, and the other officers were received with enthusiasm.

He was discharged and the division chiefs and watchmen were expected to watch their own clocks. There are 600 clocks in the treasury now and 600 times. More than this, the time clocks at the doors differ and the clerks have found the slow clocks to get to work by and the fast ones to leave by. The clock winder will get back on the pay roll.

No. 15—The Police Court

It's a pretty good plan to go to the police court some fine morning, when your mouth tastes like a crate of fragrant bums, with trembling hands and eyes like but instead, he only told her that he did not understand what he had felt; and they walked on without another word.

"Go and get something to eat," she said when they reached the hotel, "and I'll meet you here in half an hour. I don't care to talk either."

He only nodded, and lifted his hat as she went up the steps; but instead of going to eat, he sat down on a bench outside, and waited for her there, reflecting on the nature of his new experience.

Like most successful men, he looked on all theories as trash, good enough to amuse clever idlers, but never to be taken into consideration in real life. He never asked about the principle on which any invention was founded; his first and only question was: "Will it work?"

Considering himself as the raw material, and the theater he had just left as the mill, he was forced to admit that "Fayard" worked.

Mr. Van-Torp wondered how she would accomplish such afeat.

"Indeed?" he said very gravely.

"I mean it," answered Mrs. Rushmore.

There was a moment's silence, during which Mr. Van-Torp revolved something in his always active brain, while Mrs. Rushmore looked at him as if she expected that he would doubt her determination to drag Logothet to the matrimonial altar and marry him by sheer strength, rather than lot. Margaret was but unhappy wife. But Mr. Van-Torp said something quite different.

"May I speak quite frankly, though we hardly know each other?" he asked.

"We are both Americans," answered the good lady, with a grand national air, "I should not expect anything but perfect frankness of you."

"The truth is, Mrs. Rushmore, that ever since I had the pleasure of knowing Miss Donne, I have wanted to marry her myself."

"You!" cried the lady, surprised beyond measure, but greatly pleased.

"Yes," said Mr. Van-Torp quietly, "and therefore, in my position, I can't give you an unbiased opinion about Mr. Logothet. I really can't."

"Well," said Mrs. Rushmore, "I am surprised!"

While she was still surprised Mr. Van-Torp tried to make some rambling, and asked an important question.

"May I ask whether, as Miss Donne's oldest friend, you would look favorably on my proposal, supposing we were free?"

Before Mrs. Rushmore could answer, the door opened suddenly, and she could only answer by an energetic nod and a look which meant that she wished Mr. Van-Torp success with all her excellent heart.

"It's quite settled!" Margaret cried as she entered. "I've brought the director to his senses, and you are to have the rooms they were keeping for a Russian prince who has not turned up!"

CHAPTER VI.

Margaret took Van-Torp with her to the performance the next day, after impressing upon him that he was not to speak, not to whisper, not to applaud, not to make any sound, from the moment he entered the theater till he left it for the dinner interval. He was far too happy with her to question anything she said, and obeyed her most scrupulously. Twenty-four hours earlier she would have laughed at the idea that his presence beside her at such a time could be not only bearable, but sympathetic, yet that seemed natural now. The diva and the ex-cowboy, the accomplished musician and the Californian minx, the sensitive, gifted, capricious woman and the iron-jawed money-wolf had found that they had something in common. Wagner's last music affected them in the same way.

Such things are not to be explained, and could not be believed if they did not happen again and again before the eyes of those who know how to see, which is quite a different thing from merely seeing. Margaret's sudden liking for the man she had once so thoroughly disliked had begun when he had whistled to her. It grew while he sat beside her, in the darkened theater. She was absorbed by the music, the action, and the scene, and at this second hearing she could follow the noble poem itself; but she was unconscious of what her neighbor felt. He was not so motionless merely because she had told him that he must sit still; he was not so intent on what he heard and saw, morally to please her; it was not mere interest that held him, still less was it curiosity. The spell was upon him; he was entranced, and Margaret knew it.

Even when they left the theater and drove back to the hotel, he was silent, and she was the first to speak. Margaret hated the noise and confusion of the restaurant near the Festival theater.

"You have enjoyed it," she said.

"I'm glad I brought you."

"I've felt something I don't understand," Van-Torp answered gravely.

She liked the reply for its simplicity. She had perhaps expected that he would summon up his most picturesque language to tell her how much pleasure the music had given him, or that he would perhaps laugh at himself for having been moved;

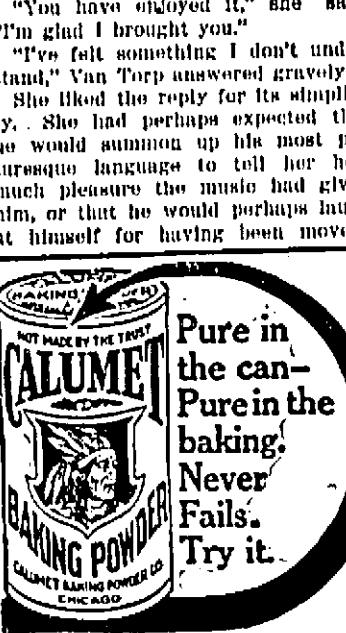

"Have you, really?" asked the millionaire, with caution, but sympathetically. "I wonder why!"

"A Greek!" said Mrs. Rushmore, suddenly. "Think of a Greek!"

Mr. Van-Torp, who was not without a sense of humor, was inclined to answer that, in fact, he was thinking of a Greek at that very moment. But he abstained.

"There are Greeks and Greeks, Mrs. Rushmore," he answered wilyly.

"That is true," answered the lady, "but I should like your opinion, as one of our most prominent men of business—at one who, if I may say so, has of triumphantly established his claim to respect." Mr. Van-Torp bowed and waved his hand in acknowledgment of this high praise. "I should like your opinion about this—or this Greek gentleman whom my young friend insists upon marrying."

BLOW FOR PINCHOT; SEVERE CRITICISM

PRESIDENT TAFT EXPECTED TO DECIDE CONTROVERSY IN BALLINGER'S FAVOR.

FORESTER LIKELY TO RESIGN

Chief Executive Leaves Beverly Tomorrow on Trip of Nearly 13,000 Miles—Chicago's Guest Wednesday—Meets Diaz October 16.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 13.—President Taft and Attorney General Wickesham yesterday spent several hours discussing the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy. They also talked over the intention to reorganize the Interstate commerce board, the bureau of corporations and the department of justice.

Although no statement was given out, it is understood that the president has reached a decision in the Ballinger-Pinchot affair and it is expected that the decision will be announced to-day or at any rate before the president starts on his western trip tomorrow afternoon.

To Sustain Ballinger.

It is probable that the decision will favor Mr. Ballinger, but that it will not carry with it a denunciation of Mr. Pinchot.

Whether or not there will be such criticism as to call for a resignation of the chief forester remains to be seen. The decision is expected to assert that both men in the controversy have the same object in view—the conservation of the natural resources of the country—but that Secretary Ballinger has interpreted the law strictly and that the withdrawal of lands from public entry cannot proceed with the broad sweep of the Pinchot enthusiasm under the present statutes.

Although the president may not mention the fact in his statement, it is understood that when congress meets in December he will send in a message asking that more authority be given to the executive for the segregation of public lands.

It is practically certain that the secretary of the interior will be exonerated of all fault in connection with the Cunningham claims for Alaskan coal lands.

Ready for Great Trip.

When President Taft motors into Boston to-morrow afternoon to be the guest of the chamber of commerce at a dinner that evening, he will have actually started on one of the most notable trips ever undertaken by a chief magistrate of the United States. After spending the night at a hotel in Boston, the president will leave at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, on the first stage of his long journey, the first stopping-off place being at Chicago, where Mr. Taft will be entertained part of the day by the Commercial club and the remainder of the day by the Hamilton club.

Leading through 30 states and both of the far southwestern territories, the president's trip will reach its climax at El Paso, Tex., on October 16, where he will meet President Diaz of Mexico.

The president's trip covers an itinerary of 12,750 miles and his private cars, the Mayflower and the Ambassador, will be handled over 22 different railroad systems. The Southern Pacific, a Huronian line, will get the longest haul of 2,280 miles.

Nevertheless, it happened. For a little while, they were man and woman, sitting side by side and very near, two in a silent multitude of other men and women; but before long he was quite motionless, his eyes were fixed again and he had forgotten her.

She saw it and wondered, for she knew how her presence moved him, and as his hands lay folded on his knee, a mischievous grilish impulse almost made her, the great artist, forget that she was listening to the greatest music in the world and nearly made her lay her hand on his just to see what he would do.

She was ashamed of it, and a little disgusted with herself. The part of her that was Margaret Donne felt the disgust; the part that was Cordova felt the shame, and each side of her nature was restrained at a critical moment.

Yet when the "Good Friday" music began, she was thinking of Van-Torp and he was unconscious of her presence.

It could not last, and soon she, too, was taken up into the artificial paralysis of the mastermusician and borne along in the gale of golden wings, and there was no passing of time till the very end; and the people rose in silence and went out under the summer stars; and all those whom nature had gifted to hear rightly, took with them memories that years would scarcely dim.

The two walked slowly back to the town as the crowd scattered on foot and in carriages. It was warm, and there was no moon, and one could smell the dust, for many people were moving in the same direction, though some stopped at almost every house and went in, and most of them were beginning to talk in quiet tones.

Margaret stepped aside from the road and entered a narrow lane, and Van-Torp followed her in silence.

"Why, this is not a pass. It is a receipt I gave a fellow for a load of wood about a year ago."

Fees of School Children.

More than 100,000 children of school age are annually laid prostrate by the three preventable diseases of diphtheria, tuberculosis and scarlet fever, and 20,000 of these illnesses termin-ate fatally.

Nothing About Pumpkins.

"STRANGER," said the old farmer whom I met driving into town with a load of hay, "they say you've got that土耳其 question settled at last?"

"You all settled some time ago. Are you interested?"

"Oh, just a bit. Neighbor of mine was away; there was a big duty put on pumpkins from foreign shores."

"But he was mistaken. There is no duty whatever on pumpkins."

"Where about that?"

"They can send 'em right over here without paying a cent, can they?"

"They can."

"Well, I dunno—I dunno," he said, as I tipped his old hat forward to scratch the back of his head.

"Do you anticipate that it is going to injure the farmers of America to any extent?"

"The Widow—How thoughtful of you to save them."

"The Widow—Yes. Now I can sell them to the comic papers."

TENDERING HIS GRICE.

GIVES UP GOOD NAME TO SECURE DIVORCE.

Mrs. Catherine Clow.

Chicago.—The story of a woman's sacrifice of her pride and honor that her husband might have grounds for divorce proceedings was told yesterday by Mrs. Catherine Clow, wife of D. E. Clow, a contractor living in Wilmette, after her arrest. In company with a friend at North Clark street hotel.

Hobbing like a child in the realization of the price she had paid for freedom from her husband, the woman prepared to try to retrieve her honor and sustain the standing of her home for the sake of two sons just old enough to realize the position of their mother, which she declared is a false one.

Mrs. Clow was arrested early yesterday morning in a hotel at 112 North Clark street in company with A. R. Trippett, a young musician just out of his teens and a friend of her son, Myndrot Clow. Warrants charging each with a serious offense were sworn by the husband and the two were taken to the county jail to await a hearing.

"It was all deliberately planned under the advice of my attorney and with the knowledge of my children, and I went to the hotel expecting to be arrested," said Mrs. Clow last night. "If that lawyer realized as I do how terrible the price I am paying for my freedom, he would have never allowed me to ruin myself in this way."

"My husband and I could not agree, and we were each willing to get a divorce, but neither had grounds. I had talked it over with my son, Myndrot, but we could not find an excuse for taking action. I consulted a lawyer and he said that the only way that I could expect an immediate divorce was to do something that would arouse the anger of my husband."

"He said that if I would allow myself to be caught in a hotel with another man my husband would be furious and have ample reason for asking a divorce. I shuddered when I thought of this, but my son thought that it could be done without any publicity, and after a quarrel with my husband last week I decided to act. I will be paying the penalty of that folly as long as I live."

"Last week my husband discharged the cook and gave no reason for his action. I went in the kitchen and would have prepared breakfast for him and the boys. But when he had finished his meal he rang the buzzer as though I were the servant. I did not answer and he continued to ring.

"This angered me, and I went in and upbraided him for treating me as a servant when he said that I was worse than a servant and not fit to wait table. He swore and threw things as he left the house."

"Mr. Trippett tried to dissuade me from taking so wild a step as I proposed, but I was foolish enough to think that it would be easy to escape notice and be sure of a divorce. He finally agreed to aid me and take the consequences. Now the poor fellow is down in the cell, disgraced as am I."

Mr. Clow refuses to be convinced that the trip to the hotel was part of the plan for a divorce and said that he would prosecute both his wife and Trippett. He filed a bill for divorce late yesterday afternoon and summons for her appearance in court Monday was served on Mrs. Clow yesterday.

OUR NATIONAL DISEASE Caused by Coffee.

Physicians know that drugs will not correct the evils caused by coffee and that the only remedy is to stop drinking it.

An Arkansas doctor says:

"I have been a coffee drinker for 50 years and have often thought that I could not do without it, but after many years of suffering with our national today, dyspepsia, I attributed it to the drinking of coffee, and after some thought, determined to use Postum for my morning drink."

"I had the Postum made carefully according to directions on the pkg. and found it just suited my taste."

"At first I used it only for breakfast, but I found myself getting so much better, that I had it all meals, and I am pleased to say that it has entirely relieved me of indigestion. I gained 10 pounds in 4 months and my general health is greatly improved."

"I must tell you of a young lady in Illinois. She had been in ill health for many years, the vital forces low, with but little pain. I wrote her of the good that Postum did me and advised her to try it."

"At the end of the year, she wrote me that Postum had entirely cured her, and that she had gained 40 pounds in weight and felt like herself again."

Sugar from Old Rags.

Sugar is now manufactured in Germany from old rags. The rags are treated with sulphuric acid and converted into dextrose. This is treated with a milk of lime, and is then subjected to a new bath of sulphuric acid, which converts it into glucose. The glucose obtained by this process is identical with that of commerce, and may be used in the same way for confections, jams, etc.

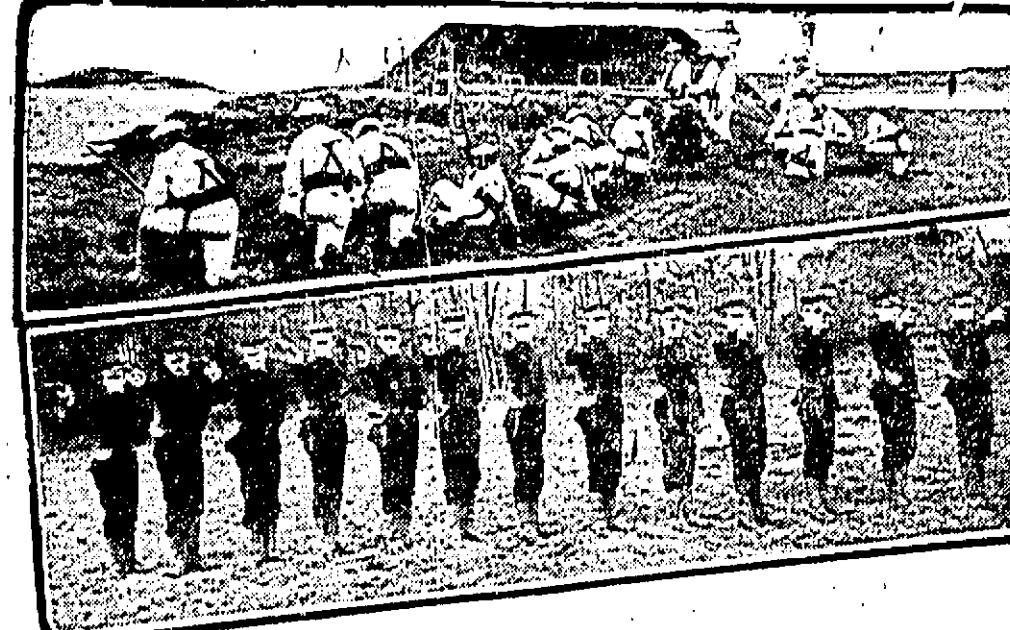

Boer War Cost Many Horses.

"Trumundous was the drain on the horseflesh of the world caused by the Boer war. In that war England sent 239,329 horses and 103,000 mules to South Africa, four times as many animals as the Germans took to France in August, 1870. Tamerlane led 93,000 horses over the Hindu Kush in the conquest of Delhi."

THE RIFLE MATCHES AT CAMP PERRY.

The greatest shooting tournament in the history of the nation will be held at Camp Perry, Ohio—America's best rifle range—during the last half of August and the first week in September. Teams from the United States army and navy, the Marine corps, military and naval academies, the organized militia and naval militia of almost all the states and territories will compete as well as teams representing practically all the rifle clubs in America and great numbers of individual marksmen. Secretary of War Dickinson, who is himself a crack shot, will attend the tournament. The program of this prolonged shooting carnival embraces the seventh annual matches of the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice, the twenty-seventh annual matches of the National Rifle Association, sixth annual matches of the Old State Rifle association and the first annual matches of the Department of the Lake Erie association. The foremost of August is given over to the meet of the Ohio marksmen by whose generosity this magnificent range is placed at the disposal of American riflemen and the great numbers which are open to the best shots in all parts of the country will begin August 23. All told, probably 3,000 expert rifle and pistol shots will participate in the scores of different events. Congress has appropriated $12,000 for feeding the competitors in addition to having donated thousands of dollars to be given in the form of monetary prizes to the marksmen who make the best scores.

Bolivia's Mineral Wealth.

Bolivia is famous for its silver, but also possesses considerable quantities of gold, which, however, cannot be extracted without great expense. In the seventeenth century an Indian near the town of La Paz found a mass of gold, supposed to have been detached from the neighboring mountain by lightning. Bolivia is, on the whole, in a backward condition, political changes and internal conflicts having hindered the development of its natural wealth.

Deception of the Circus.

A writer in Collier's who is as familiar with circus life as a press agent, but who doesn't respect trade secrets, says that the graceful, young lady bareback rider, and the shapely creature who does thrills on the flying trapeze, are frequently young men, made feminine in appearance by the addition of a blonde wig and eyeliner where nature failed to qualify him for the role.
